How to make Truth Tickets

Open a free account at Avery.com. They are a large and respected label maker and have a versatile Business Card app which you can use for free and they save all your work for free. It also has all the guides so you don't get the card cut off wrong.

For Making QR codes, open a free account at Adobe.com. Then use the link below. The Adobe link is reliable and stable.

 Generate QR code

The referrer code such as: /?ref=my-referrer-code is used to uniquely identify your ticket and is added after the /main, /simple, and /wams tags.

This is what the Business Card app at Avery looks like.
https://www.avery.com/myaccount/projects will get you there once you have opened your free Avery account.

In the middle is the layout of a single card, using the tools to the left and showing the 10-up of the PDF ready to print on their 5871 template to the right in case you want to print yourself on 5871 perforated card stock.

"Background" to make the background color is in the white bar above the layout.

When done, Preview and Print will give you the 10-up JPG.

To make the single card from the 10-up JPG. With your screen grabber, start at the upper left corner getting all the yellow to the left and above and then getting all the yellow to the right and below but not getting any of the printing of the next card.

Note that about half of the yellow border can now be cut (full bleed) to make the final 2 inch x 3.5 inch card. You can now send single card masters for the front and the back side to: ART@etsylocalprinting.com after you have paid for the standard 14pt business cards for $29.95 (free shipping) at:
